Adult "Learn to Draw"

This is a foundation course that promotes growth and expression through the exploration of two-dimensional design, still-life arrangements, landscapes and photographs. You will discover what it is like to see your surroundings from a unique perspective and respond to it in a fresh way. Throw away the rulers – you don't need them to create lively and interesting drawings. You will discover your artist within.

All you need is your sketchpad and your imagination!

Classes will be taught by Susan Richter Todd, a locally recognized artist and art instructor. Sue's work has received regional, national and international recognition over the past 30 years. Among her numerous achievements, Hudson Valley Magazine, Artist's Magazine featured her work in a article entitled "The World in a Grain of Sand", published in the Encyclopedia of Living Artists, and murals in The Beacon City School system.
